FEBRUARY 6, 2019

Smith Siromaskul, PE

Join us as we take a look at innovative intersections and interchanges. This presentation will provide a brief overview of a number of emerging designs (e.g. diverging diamond interchanges, continuous flow intersections, median U turn intersections, etc.) and address their common elements and explain how they seek to solve specific issues.

This presentation will use multiple case studies involving new interchange variations to break down the problem-solving approach and the selection process used when developing overall concepts. It will also discuss perception-based hurdles in considering, designing, and implementing innovative designs.

One (1) PDH will be offered for this event.
